YOUR LIFE-SAVING IMPACT

A PERMANENT PRESENCE. A GROWING MINISTRY.

Every Vapor outreach center requires more than land, buildings, and infrastructure. It requires committed leaders who build relationships, disciple others, develop local teams, and lay the foundation for lasting, Christ-centered transformation.

In Sierra Leone, the foundation is taking shape.

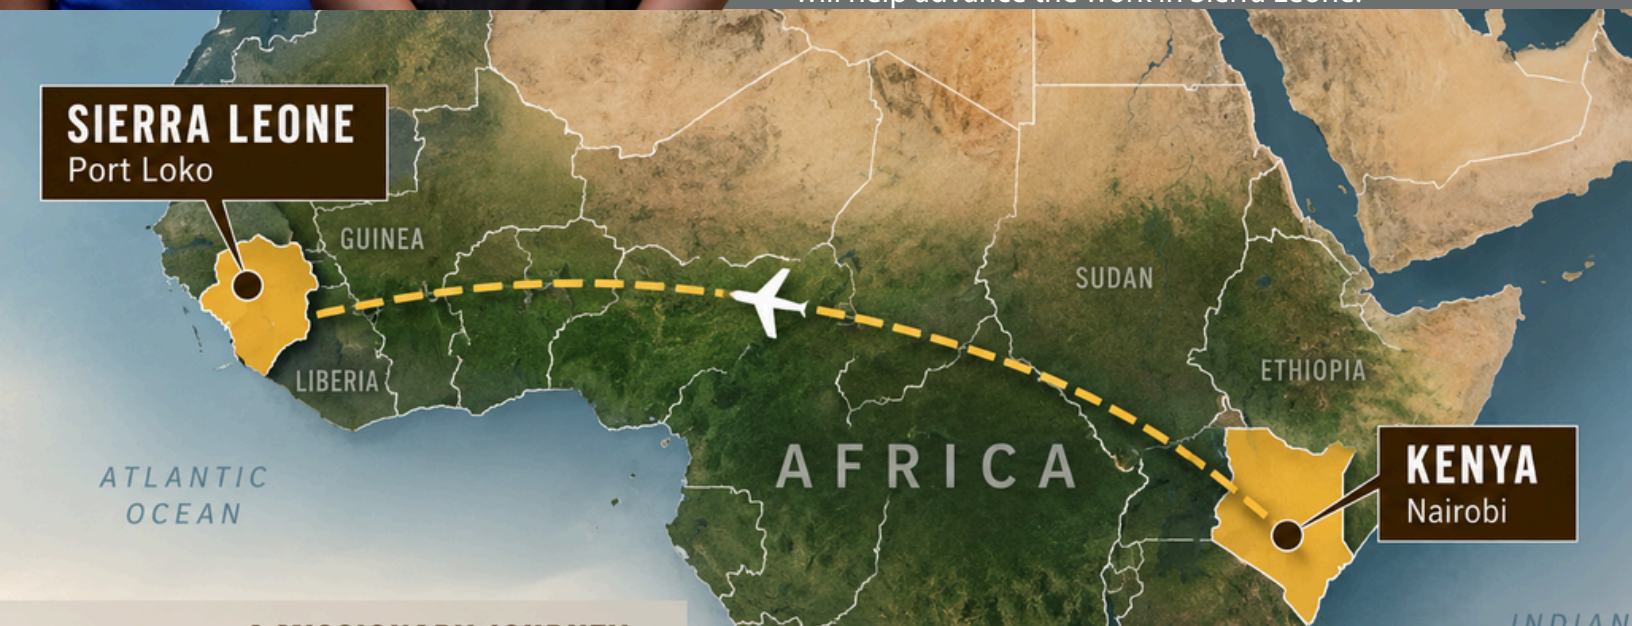

Before construction began on Vapor's Port Loko outreach center, a husband and wife serving through Vapor in Kenya answered God's call to relocate to Sierra Leone as missionaries. Global teams and project managers are joining. Soon, our Manager of Africa Operations and his family will move in as well.

Their assignment began with people. They entered a new community to build relationships, share the love of Christ, and begin the work of discipleship.

Today, as construction advances, they lead daily discipleship with hundreds of local people employed to build the center. Through these relationships, they are also identifying and developing potential leaders who will carry the ministry forward.

Supporting this growing work is a host of team members, including the above-mentioned Manager of Africa Operations, who provides oversight, alignment, and accountability for ministry efforts across the continent.

To provide a stable foundation for these leaders, their families, and supporting teams, Vapor is seeking to complete and renovate two guesthouses. These residences will also accommodate visiting teams who will help advance the work in Sierra Leone.

BUILDING THE INFRASTRUCTURE TO ADVANCE THE MISSION

This project will form two fully furnished guesthouses doubling as residences, strengthening Vapor's long-term ministry presence in Sierra Leone. One will house our Manager of Africa Operations and his family as he oversees ministry efforts across the continent. The other will provide a home for our Sierra Leone Field Representative and his family as they disciple people, develop local leaders, and oversee construction of the Port Loko center.

Both homes will also accommodate visiting U.S. team members and Project Advancement personnel from Kenya, creating a dependable base for collaboration and ministry development.

Leadership Stability: Providing secure, consistent housing will strengthen the families and leaders carrying significant responsibility for advancing the ministry across Africa.

Security and Infrastructure: Renovations will include essential furnishings, solar and public power, a generator, vehicle shed, landscaping, sidewalks, and a secure perimeter wall and gate.

Operational Efficiency: Dedicated accommodations will simplify travel logistics, reduce reliance on temporary lodging, and better support visiting teams and ongoing projects.

Long-Term Stewardship: Securing 14 years of property rental will protect this investment and provide a stable operational base for years to come.

AN INVESTMENT IN LASTING MINISTRY

Behind every outreach center are faithful leaders who disciple people, develop teams, and carry the mission forward. Providing the infrastructure they need is an investment in the long-term strength and sustainability of the ministry.

We invite you to prayerfully consider partnering with Vapor Ministries to fund the completion and renovation of these two guesthouses.

Your generosity will provide a place to call home for leaders and their families, a dependable base for visiting teams, and the stability needed to sustain the work as Vapor's ministry grows across Africa.

Thank you for considering this opportunity to strengthen the hands of those advancing the gospel and serving communities in need.

He and they are worth it,
