A NEW REGION WITHIN REACH

Every new place begins with a first step.

In Port Loko, Sierra Leone, Vapor Ministries is taking that step. Here, we are establishing a new outreach center designed to meet urgent needs, feed souls, and elevate God in a region filled with both tremendous need and tremendous opportunity.

Before programs launch and fields fill with children, a team must enter the community. They must listen. Learn. Build trust. Develop relationships with local leaders. Prepare teams. Solve problems. Carry supplies. Travel unfamiliar roads. And, day by day, begin laying the groundwork for a ministry that we pray will serve this region for generations.

Our regional launch team is doing that work now. And to do it well, they need the ability to go.

ON THE GROUND. READY TO GO.

Launching a Vapor center requires a unique kind of leadership.

Our regional launch team carries responsibility far beyond the boundaries of the center property. They are building relationships throughout the region, coordinating the many details required to establish operations, developing local leaders, engaging community stakeholders, and preparing the way for ministry to take root.

Their days take them wherever the work requires.

- Into communities.
- To markets and suppliers.
- To meetings with government and local leaders.
- Between ministry partners and project sites.
- Across roads where dependable transportation matters.

Every trip is part of something larger. A conversation can become a relationship. A relationship can open a door. And an open door can create an opportunity to serve, disciple, and share the hope of Christ.

MINISTRY REQUIRES MOVEMENT

In Sierra Leone, reliable transportation is an essential ministry tool.

The Port Loko team needs a vehicle capable of supporting the realities of launching and leading ministry in this environment. It must transport people safely, carry equipment and supplies, navigate varying road conditions, and remain dependable through the demanding work of establishing a new region.

Without reliable transportation, distance becomes a limitation. With it, the team's reach expands.

A vehicle gives our leaders the freedom to respond when needs arise, travel where relationships are forming, move resources where they are needed, and stay connected to the communities they have been called to serve.

It turns miles into opportunities.

BUILT FOR THE WORK

This vehicle will serve as a daily working tool for the team as they establish and grow Vapor's presence in Sierra Leone. It will provide dependable transportation for leaders and team members while also offering the capacity needed to move supplies, equipment, and other resources throughout the region.

The vehicle selected will prioritize reliability, durability, passenger and cargo capacity, suitability for local road conditions, and access to ongoing service and maintenance.

Our goal with this request is simple: put the right tool in the hands of the people doing the work.

WHAT YOUR GIFT PUTS IN MOTION

The call to reach people has always required someone willing to go.

In Port Loko, our team has answered that call. They are entering a new region, building relationships one at a time, preparing local leaders, and establishing a ministry we pray will continue changing lives long after these first miles have been traveled.

There are roads ahead of them that lead to communities we are only beginning to know. There are relationships waiting to be formed, people waiting to be served, and souls who have yet to hear the hope of Jesus.

We invite you to help put this mission in motion.

Your gift of will place a reliable vehicle into the hands of our Port Loko regional launch team, equipping them to go where the work takes them and carry the mission farther.

Mile after mile. Community after community. Life after life.

Together, we can help make the road ahead possible.
